The Mungabareena Aunty Jeans Health Program, Aboriginal Chronic Care Unit (ACCU) provides three Aunty Jeans health programs for the Aboriginal Communities of the Illawarra and Shoalhaven. Due to 15 years of success the programs basic core components have been duplicated across the state.

The Program is friendly, culturally sensitive and stress free for the local Aboriginal community members who have a chronic condition between the ages of 15 and onwards. The program is based on exercise and health education and is delivered weekly.

All programs meet yearly to compete against each other at the annual Aunty Jeans Mini Olympics. The only request we ask of any new program wanting to participate is to ensure pay respect to the elder Aunty Jean in which the program was named after by calling your program after the same name as all of the 18 programs that participate.
